News Around Town

By Mrs. Calvin Robinson

I liked this one:
The worried leopard consulted his psychiatrist one day. "I don't know what's come over me doc," he complained. "Every time I looked at my wife I see spots before my eyes!"

"Well for heaven's sake," answered the medic, "that's only natural."

"But, doctor," explained the leopard, "she's a zebra." —Quote.

Friends are sorry to hear of the illness of Kenneth E. Coleman, who was taken to McGuire Hospital, in Richmond, on Saturday. We wish for him a speedy recovery. Mr. Coleman's address is: McGuire Veterans Hospital, Richmond, Va. Mrs. Coleman and Mr. and Mrs. Ralph Coleman accompanied him to Richmond and spent the week-end.

Miss Edna Gregory has been accepted as a transfer student to the College of William and Mary from Madison College, where she was a student the past session.

G. L. Doss has a fine vegetable garden. Mr. Doss has been keeping me in mess of beans, new potatoes, etc., and I am eagerly awaiting the ripe tomatoes. He says it won't be long now. Garden fresh tomatoes are a favorite of most everyone.

Bobby Barger, who appeared on a recent "You've Got a Chance" program, was a winner. On Tuesday night he appeared on the TV program entitled, "Relax." He will be in the finals on July 7. Best wishes to you, Bobby.

The new residence of Mr. and Mrs. Robert Allen Sears is nearing completion. Lot of pretty homes been built on South Church St. Just drive down that way. I love to drive "around town" and see the signs to show that "Appomattox is a growing town."

NEW BOOK AT THE COUNTY LIBRARY
Souvenir, by Margaret Truman with Margaret Cousins.

What is it like to grow up a normal girl in the Midwest . . . and the glare of world publicity when your father suddenly becomes President of the United States? Margaret Truman takes you into her confidence in this absorbing story of her life. You watch her grow in independence, enjoying a happy childhood marked by laughter, humor, and large family gatherings. Then you accompany Margaret to Washington in 1934 when her father is elected to the Senate. At Pearl Harbor, the pace of the President's life grows faster. Miss Truman's excitement over her father becoming Vice-President is followed by the tragic realization that President Roosevelt's death. She soon found herself greatly in demand as a society belle while struggling to keep up with college studies. In this warm, personal narrative, one of America's outstanding young women tells you of her life, childhood to present day, in simple, unaffected style.

Watered Gas Trap'en
Wenona, Ill.- For more than two months, two youths had been feeding their old model car on Carril Sanninger's tractor gasoline supply. At the suggestion of Deputy Kenneth Kenyon, Sanninger added 5 gallons of water to 3 gallons of gasoline in the tank. The youths made their usual appearance, helped themselves but got only a mile away from the farm in the mixture.
